

Engineers Australia

Engineers Australia is the national peak body for all engineering disciplines.

They work with government, industry and tertiary education providers to promote engineering as a discipline, and the professional development of our members. Their chartered engineers are regarded as trusted professionals not only in Australia, but worldwide and they represent over 80,000 engineers.

Their Mission is to empower our members to build their careers, to set the standards for engineering education and practice and to promote the engineering profession for everyone's benefit.
